presents

Come and hear a fascinating and most interesting tale from the Second World War, the untold story of the women who flew for the Air Transport Auxiliary. Courageous and yet new to the field of aviation, these flying ladies often faced dangers beyond what people expected of them. Not to be missed!

Garry Ryan is a retired Calgary public school teacher. An accomplished author with five acclaimed detective novels since 2004, he began a new series in 2012 with the historical fiction novel Blackbirds, published by NeWest Press. In 2009, Garry was awarded Calgary's Freedom of Expression Award, a prestigious honour.
