L4J : THE LITTLE PLANE THAT DID!

Discover the amazing restoration and current flying career of a genuine Pacific War liaison aircraft! Damaged in combat on Okinawa Island in the summer of 1945, this great little machine survived countless repairs and accidents before landing on Ken Lapp's backyard. Two speakers in one night!

Ken Lapp studied under Stan Green's SAIT Aero Maintenance course, then spent 47 yrs as Calgary Petroleum Instrumentation firm owner. He owned 4 aircraft, restored 3 and won Oshkosh awards for 2 of them. Wayne Nyman, another SAIT graduate, is currently Calgary Airport Tower manager.
